

MRS. ANNA BECHTOLD, 58, of Samsonville, is being held at the Ulster County Jail for grand jury action on a first degree murder charge. State police accused her of the slaying of her husband, William Bechtold, 48, by gunshot on Tuesday night at their summer cottage on Nevele road, town of Wawarsing.

Bechtold's Autopsy Is Completed Could Have Died Of Either Wound

The April grand jury, presently in recess, will probably be called into session next week to hear the first degree murder charge under which Mrs. Anna Bechtold, 58, of Samsonville is being held.

District Attorney Howard C. St. John said today the case was still under investigation but it was expected sufficient evidence would have been secured for presentation of the case to the grand jury next week. The jurors will have to be notified since they have been excused without date for a future meeting. Some of the members may be out of town and calling the body into session will depend on when the members can be assembled.

MEANWHILE a statement has been secured from Mrs. Bechtold who is being held on a murder, first degree, charge for the shooting of her husband, William Bechtold, 48, at their cottage on Nevele Road, near Ellenville last Tuesday evening.

The case is being investigated by Inspector Harvey Denman and Sergeant Arthur A. Reilly of the state police BCI unit. Efforts are being made to locate witnesses who may have been acquainted with the couple and have knowledge of former arguments. It is believed the shooting took place after a series of arguments during the day.

Calls Patients' Care Disgrace

Chicago, Sept. 17 (AP)—The president-elect of the American Medical Assn. said today the handling of mental patients "approaches national disgrace" in many parts of the country.

Dr. Elmer Hess of Erie, Pa., urged vigorous action by state and county mental societies to bring about needed improvements in mental hospitals.

OPENING A TWO-DAY conference of mental health representatives of State Medical Associations, Dr. Hess deplored the results of what he termed "the lack of emphasis by private medicine and the resigning of mental patients to the impersonal mercy of state and political medical care."

"Here, in this area of medical care is certainly an example of political responsibility . . . or should I say irresponsibility? The situation is an acute one. I have been told by doctors who have been closer to these situations than I, that conditions of some of the most neglected of these so-called hospitals still rival conditions in London's once ill-famed 'bedlam.'"

DR. HESS recommended to the conference that members of state and county mental health committees "spend a few days visiting your own state and county institutions." He called for a closer working relationship between the family doctor, psychiatrist and mental institutions.

He said doctors should do more than merely endorse a program developed by the AMA's Committee on Mental Health to deal with the problems of mental health and illness.

State's Economy Close to 1953

Albany, Sept. 17 (AP)—In terms of jobs and business volume, 1954 probably will be New York's "second biggest year" in history, Gov. Dewey's Committee on Economic Progress said yesterday.

The 15-member group predicted that this year would rank not "far behind" the peak year of 1953.

The committee, established last July, declared in its first report: "Business conditions have improved. The decline in business activity which started in mid-1953 has definitely been halted in the last few months."

Alternative Is Cited by Nixon

Wichita, Kan., Sept. 17 (AP)—Vice President Nixon says the November election poses an alternative of continuing the present administration's program of "integrity, firmness and moderation" or restoring "discredited Trumanism."

Speaking in President Eisenhower's home state, Nixon declared last night:

"In 1952, when 34 million Americans rejected it, Trumanism meant hopeless inability to deal with the four-headed monster that was Korea, communism, corruption and controls."

"DEFICIT FINANCING and inflation go clamorously hand-in-hand."

"That's what Trumanism means. That's what his followers including Mr. Stevenson (1952 Democratic president nominee) and his left-wing ADA (Americans for Democratic Action) mouthpieces want. To achieve this goal, they must have a Democrat 84th Congress—controlled by their clique."

The vice president told more than 3,000 persons gathered in the Wichita forum, a municipal building, that the GOP administration "is a clean-up, not a cover-up administration."

"THE HONESTY of the President permeates our government from top to bottom," he added. "The President and his administrative leaders are dedicated people . . . they deserve (Continued on Page 6, Col. 5)

Emergency Is Declared On Apples

300,000 Bushels Going Cheap Here

The State Agriculture Department today took emergency action to help Hudson valley apple growers market an estimated 900,000 bushels of storm damaged fruit, including about 300,000 bushels of Ulster county apples.

According to the Associated Press, Commissioner C. Chester DuMont, in Albany, established a temporary "New York hurricane grade" for apples, which were smashed by hail and pounded by 65-mile-an-hour winds during the storm 10 days ago.

THE APPLES are to be sold at "emergency" prices, it was announced, and the standard will exist until noon November (Continued on Page 6, Col. 6)

Reuther Causes Firing Of Six Union Officials

New York, Sept. 17 (AP)—A directive by CIO President Walter P. Reuther has resulted in the suspension of six union officials following testimony in a state probe of union welfare funds.

Reuther yesterday ordered "prompt remedial action" against a half dozen top officers of the Retail, Wholesale and Department store union (RWD), adding that the CIO "cannot and will not tolerate crooks or Communists in the labor movement."

Carrying out his chief's order, Max Greenberg, international president of the RWD, appointed administrators to audit the books of the five locals involved.

THE SIX MEN had admitted to state investigators that they used welfare funds to provide themselves with high salaries and expense accounts, lavish vacations, automobiles and other special benefits.

Reuther's statement, distributed to newsmen covering the hearings conducted by the New York State Insurance Department, was addressed to Greenberg and said in part:

"A number of local unions of your international organization have admitted to practices which cannot be condoned by any decent trade union . . ."

Democrats Scrap Over Rent Cuts

New York, Sept. 17 (AP)—Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, was at odds today with national committee chairman Carmine G. DeSapio on the question of reducing rents.

DeSapio, opposed to a recent 15 per cent authorized increase, proposed yesterday that the Democrats place a rent-rollback plank in the party's platform for the Nov. 2 election.

Roosevelt, who said he had opposed the increase, took the view that it would be impossible to reduce rents that have been raised.

The clash reflected a growing split between Roosevelt and DeSapio. DeSapio spearheaded a joint action by four influential party leaders in endorsing Averell Harriman for the nomination for governor.

ROOSEVELT EARLIER this week charged that the DeSapio forces were giving "irresponsible and erroneous" information that upstate counties which had been for Roosevelt were switching to Harriman.

And when informed of DeSapio's position on a rent rollback, the congressman said:

"I will never make promises to voters which are impossible to perform."

Roosevelt said further: "I have actively opposed (Gov.) Dewey's 15 per cent rent increase and I have fought for and voted in favor of rent control every time it came up in Congress."

Atomic Power Predicted For Industry in 5-15 Years

New York, Sept. 17 (AP)—Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, predicts that industry will have electrical power from atomic furnaces in 5 to 15 years.

"Our children will enjoy in their homes electrical energy too cheap to meter," he adds.

This time scale can be shortened if research is pushed sufficiently, he said last night in addressing the National Assn. of Science writers.

Discussing the nation's eight-billion-dollar atomic program, he said:

"Transmutation of the elements, unlimited power, ability to investigate the workings of living cells by tracer atoms, the secret of photosynthesis about to be uncovered, these and a host of other results, all in 15 short years."

"It is not too much to expect that our children will know of great periodic regional famines in the world only as matters of history, will travel effortlessly over the seas and under them and through the air with a minimum of danger and at great speeds, and will experience a life span far longer than ours, as disease yields and man comes to understand what causes him to age."

No Report On Session Thursday

Both Agree Upon Bonn Sovereignty

London, Sept. 17 (AP)—John Foster Dulles flew into London today for hurried talks with Prime Minister Churchill and Anthony Eden on Britain's new plan for rearming West Germany.

The British foreign secretary met the U. S. secretary of state after Eden reported for 90 minutes to Churchill and the cabinet on his own flying tour of West Europe to drum up support for his plan.

Dulles flew here from Bonn, where he conferred with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer on German sovereignty and rearmament.

IN A JOINT airport statement in Bonn, Dulles, and Adenauer made no specific mention of Eden's plan to link a rearmed West Germany to the Brussels Pact and NATO.

They said instead that West German sovereignty should be "restored with all speed." They added that Germany's participation "in full equality in the system of collective security" should be considered as "soon as practicable with the other interested governments, and following a NATO ministerial meeting, should be translated into concrete action."

IN A STATEMENT at London Airport Dulles told newsmen: "We in the United States greatly admire the initiative and vigor which Mr. Eden has shown in exploring the (German) problem and seeking a solution. I have come here to learn of his appraisal of the situation."

"My presence here again shows the American faith in the principle of Anglo-American solidarity in dealing with such grave problems as now confront us."

"The North Atlantic Community in Europe," Dulles continued, "is confronted with a grave situation as a result of the failure, to complete the European Defense Community (EDC)."

HE ADDED THAT he had come to consult with Churchill and Eden about "ways and means of meeting the situation."

Dulles and Eden left at once for No. 10 Downing street to lunch with Churchill.

Dulles and Eden were to continue their talks most of the afternoon. The secretary of state is scheduled to fly back to Washington tonight.

Eden has won approval from French Premier Pierre Mendes-France for a nine-power conference to convene here about Sept. 27 to seek a substitute for the EDC.

The British Cabinet is believed to have decided at its special meeting today to press for early inclusion of West Germany in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

OFFICIAL SOURCES said Dulles looks favorably on the British proposals for disposition of the German question, but has avoided committing the United States until he has thoroughly studied the situation with Eden.

Authoritative sources said Dulles' decision to bypass Paris on this trip was not a snub but a calculated warning to France that the French will not be permitted to block progress toward European unity and West German rearmament.

On his return last night, Eden told reporters he had reached a "wide measure of agreement" in his talks with the leaders of France, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg, Italy and West Germany.

But he cautioned that the "practical aspects of the enterprise are far from simple. . . a good deal of work remains to be done before a solution can be presented to the world."

Adenauer Wins Confidence Vote

Bonn, Germany, Sept. 17 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government, under fire for the defection of security chief Otto John to the Communist east, won a vote of confidence in Parliament today. Conservative deputies rejected a censure motion.

The opposition Socialist move to censure John's boss, interior minister Gerhard Schroeder, was turned down 223-128. Fifty deputies stayed out of the row by abstaining from the voting.

Industry Group Chairmen Named

Announcement that Robert C. Cline, vice president of the Ulster Foundry and Machine Corporation, and Charles H. Roth of the Hutton Company have accepted the co-chairmanship of the Industry Committee in the Development Fund Program for the Kingston Hospital was made today by Bev. Anderson, general chairman of the project, whereby $450,000 will be sought by public subscription to complete the current phase of the Hospital's expansion.

Anderson said that the Industry Committee is one of the principal groups in the fund organization and added that the acceptance of Cline and Roth of this position of leadership is most encouraging.

"I am confident," Anderson continued, "that under their energetic direction the Industry Committee will successfully present the story on the need for the completion of our fund to the larger industries and business houses of Ulster County whose support will be asked in the early stages of the undertaking."

Messrs. Cline and Roth explained that they are now enlisting approximately 35 men to serve with them. They stated that prior to accepting the co-chairmanship they had studied the Hospital's situation thoroughly and are fully convinced of the necessity for the Development Program if the Kingston Hospital is to continue to provide the treatment and care that residents of this area need and want.

Referring to national statistics which show that everyone is likely to require hospital care at least once in eight years, Cline and Roth said that "the creation of adequate facilities for the protection of life and health is the responsibility of all people and that industry has demonstrated that it is willing to accept its share of such a civic responsibility."

It was further pointed out by the two co-chairmen that the recently enacted Federal tax law has added further inducements to industry to contribute to hospitals and other charitable causes. Any corporation may feel free to give more this year, even more than the 5% legal limit, by carrying the excess above 5% to next year or the year following. In addition to the tax saving, there is plenty of good-will value to corporate giving it was explained.

Not many experts would open the West hand with three clubs in the hand shown today. Such a bid is usually reserved for a longer club suit with less side strength, particularly in the major suits.

While we're sniffing at the bidding, we shouldn't overlook East's raise to four clubs. It's hard to see the point of this bid since East has reasonably good defense.

As it happened, however, East did bid four clubs, and South bid the same four spades over four clubs that he would have bid over three clubs. South couldn't be sure that he could make a game, of course, but he was more than willing to try.

West opened the queen of clubs, and South won with the ace. What should declarer do next?

The actual declarer fozzled matters by leading a trump to dummy's king at the second trick. So if you're trying to pick the right play, you can eliminate that one.

South can do nothing to improve his chances in spades or hearts. The real question is how to play the diamonds.

The percentage play is to begin the diamonds by leading low towards the dummy. If West happens to have K-10 or Q-10, he will be on the spot. For then if he goes up with his picture card, declarer will later lead the jack from the dummy; and if West plays the ten, dummy's jack will force out the other picture card, and declarer will later lay down the ace.

The play works equally well if West has the ten and a low diamond. West naturally plays low at the second trick, and dummy's nine is played to drive out the queen. Later, dummy gets the lead with the king of spades to bring the jack of diamonds through East. No matter what they do, the defenders can get only one diamond trick.

The correct play of the diamonds was possible only if declarer could get the dummy later on to make his second diamond play from dummy. Since the only entry to dummy was the king of spades, it was vital for declarer to begin the diamonds before using up that king of spades.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL
A Column of Contrary Opinion

Once in a while the Ruminator has the temerity to write on the stock market. (Sometimes hereafter he wishes he hadn't!)

The market seems to be at one of those junctures where it may be said to be in a by-guess-and-by-gosh stage. There is ever any certainty about the stock market's future trend the future is speculative, not a certainty. However, when you reach a stage where you can't get an opinion you want then it is usually wise to be exceedingly cautious in your speculations.

I am reminded of a friend who suffered from mild ulcer attacks. His doctor advised against his customary habit of a cocktail before dinner. As time wore on said friend visited other doctors, getting somewhat different opinions on his "case." Finally he came across a medical chap of high repute who told him, "Go ahead and enjoy your cocktail; it may aggravate your ulcer a bit, but it will soothe your nerves and aid your circulation."

That's about the way it is with today's stock market. You can get whatever advice you want. You will read one man's opinion to beware of the market; that a big bust is coming. Another will be equally "gassy" and tell you that "by gosh, I see much higher prices ahead." And so it goes, with opinions mixed and heavily veiled with tongue-in-the-cheek comments: "If the Reds don't attack, Formosa, everything will be all right; if Ike gets out and really campaigns or Republican votes, business will be confident; if profits don't fall, stocks will rise."

The public naturally veers around with the changes in opinions. You saw the weather vane spinning in our recent high winds. Stock market sentiment is apparently feeling the effects of the changing currents, also.

Well, asks a reader: "So what? You've been guessing-and-goshing for several paragraphs; what's the answer?"

Dear Reader, there isn't any! There comes a time when an opinion on the stock market's trend is worthless—because of the imponderables. At such times there is only one course to follow: Decide what you would do if you knew a sharp drop in prices were imminent. What did people do in New England and eastern New York last week when they thought hurricane Edna might pay them a visit? They pulled their boats out of the water, or lashed them as safely as they could. They didn't rely on "margins" but protected themselves against the worst. The same policy holds after a stock market has been flying high for many months and you see prices jumping like leaves in the wind. You pull out of risky situations and hold fast to things you think can ride out any storm. If the storm is postponed that does not mean your policy was wrong. It merely means the "timing" is wrong.

The Ruminator is doggedly dogmatic about only one thing concerning the stock market: namely, that it is humanly impossible to forecast the "time element." I know some analysts will refute this statement and claim they can forecast the "timing" of trends—when trends will advance, reverse, or stand still. But I have been reading market forecasts for over 25 years and without having made a tally I'll assert without fear of contradiction that "timing forecasts" or market trends have been wrong far oftener than they have been right. I'll wager the margin of error has been as high as 80 per cent (that is, wrong 80 times out of 100). This is another way of asserting that when the timing has been correct it was merely a lucky guess.

So you have only one course to follow (if, that is, you agree with the above): When in doubt be cautious. Don't overplay your hand when everybody is in the game. Take it easy until some pull out and throw in their hands. In other words, "be contrary" not only to definite opinions but to mixed opinions. Right now, for example, there is no general pessimism over the stock market. There are opinions here and there that prices are too high, but in general there is little outspoken bearishness. The public seems to be "in the game." I should guess that perhaps too many people are in the game. So the contrarian will be cautious until the storm passes without causing severe damage (to prices) or will await until the storm strikes when he will be bold.

after a luncheon conference that included L. Judson Morhouse, acting state chairman; Walter J. Mahoney of Buffalo, Senate majority leader; George M. Shapiro, Dewey's counsel, and R. Burdell Bixby, Dewey's secretary.

Ives pictured the best candidates as able men who could draw votes. The Ticket's geographical balance—the inclusion of candidates from both the New York city area and upstate—he put further down the list.

"The first thing we want to do is to get candidates who are qualified for office—that's the most important thing," Ives said. "Next we have to get candidates who will appeal to the voters—and that's not a question of geography."

The Norwich senator added: "The question of geography and things like that come afterward."

DOWNSTATE RESIDENTS have been mentioned most often for the other spots on the ticket.

Ives represented himself as still reluctant to run for governor, but pledged a vigorous campaign if nominated.

Dewey and the GOP State Executive Committee have endorsed Ives. And yesterday in New York city the executive committee of the National Republican Club urged Ives' nomination "by acclamation" at the convention opening Wednesday in Syracuse.

No other Republican but Ives has been mentioned for the nomination since Dewey announced that he would not run for a fourth term.

As to major issues, Ives said the running fight between New York city Democratic leaders and the Dewey administration certainly would be one. He declined to say what other big issues might be.

Ives said he expected to go to New York city tonight or tomorrow to confer with GOP leaders in the metropolitan area. On Monday he will go to Syracuse.

on rent control and several other issues.

On the subject of rents, the letter said:

"While I do not believe that any rollback in rents is now feasible after the Republican administration let the lid off that Pandora's box, I, with the rest of the Democratic party, favor strict rent controls of the sort ordained in the rent-control bills offered by the Democrats in recent sessions of the Legislature."

"Furthermore, provisions should be made for procuring court orders forcing landlords to restore services which they have improperly discontinued. Also, the administrator of the Rent Control Law should be a person who understands and sympathizes with the position of tenants rather than a representative of real estate interests."

(Joseph D. McGoldrick is state rent administrator.)

Will Become Engaged

New York, Sept. 17 (AP)—Eddie Fisher, the singing star idol of a huge number of teen-age girls, said today he and movie star Debbie Reynolds will become engaged soon. By soon, the 26-year-old baritone explained, he meant around November when Debbie expects to come here from Hollywood for a visit. "How about Thanksgiving Day?" he was asked. "Hey, you've given me an idea," he replied. "I've sure got something to be thankful for."

Thousands of carats of diamonds are mined by the steel industry annually. Most of these diamonds look like dark-gray, sharp-edged pebbles, known as "carbons" and are imported from Brazil.

Ulrich to Head Ulster Firemen

The election of Adam Ulrich of Wallkill is expected to take place during the monthly meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association Tuesday at 8 p. m., Fred Harder, secretary, reported today.

Tuesday's meeting will be held as guests of the Shawangunk Valley Fire Company at Bruynswick.

Ulrich, a former president of the volunteers, is expected to be formally elected to succeed Leo Keator of New Paltz who has been serving as interim president since the recent county convention in July. Keator also served the association last year.

Harder indicated today that application for membership from the Vly-Atwood Fire Company will be presented at Tuesday's session.

The October meeting will be held in Woodstock.

Said Greenberg, who took office last May:

"I personally am terribly disturbed about what the investigation has uncovered. I never suspected nor knew that these abuses existed."

STATE INSURANCE Superintendent Alfred J. Bohlinger, at the close of the four days of hearings yesterday, urged state supervision of union welfare funds to eliminate abuses.

Bohlinger said, however, that he believed most union welfare funds are honestly and efficiently run.

Greenberg said he hopes "the public realizes" that the five locals involved have a total of about 3,000 members compared with a general union membership of more than 60,000.

Meanwhile in Washington yesterday, Senate and House committees prepared to launch their own probes of reported union welfare fund abuses and received pledges of cooperation from Reuther and AFL President George Meany.

THE SENATE COMMITTEE is headed by Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-N.Y.), slated to be nominated as GOP candidate for governor of New York next week.

Rep. Samuel McConnell Jr. (R-Pa.) heads a similar House Committee.

Officials suspended from the RWD are:

Joseph Procopio, an international vice president of the Store Union; Samuel Rosenzweig, president of Local 923, The United Culinary, Bar and Grill Employees; Robert M. Stanlea, president of Local 394, Auto Parts, Tire, and Accessory Employees; Ernest J. Dumas, president of Local 377, United Service Employees; and Michael Werner and Michael Sakman, president and secretary-treasurer, respectively, of Local 1115, Restaurant, Luncheonette and Soft Drink Employees.

YoungCrime Probe Asked

New York, Sept. 17 (AP)—State Sen. Seymour Halpern said today the New York State Youth Commission should start an immediate "thorough-going probe of teen-age unrest and delinquency."

Halpern, a Queens Republican, said in a statement that "repeated eruptions" of youthful hoodlums and crime constitute a "real emergency."

Halpern, who for years has sponsored legislation to create a temporary commission to study the causes and cures of youthful unrest and resultant violence, said:

"We have reached a crisis, and we can no longer delay finding a real solution."

HE CITED REPEATED instances of "school boys and school girls running the gamut of anti-social behavior... gang wars, assaults, vandalism, drunkenness, juvenile drug addiction—even murder."

Halpern said the law creating the State Youth Commission gives it the power "to study and analyze the problems of youth and the prevention of delinquency."

"Trying to remedy the situation on a community level is a commendable objective, but it is not enough," he declared. "A statewide commission can coordinate and centralize all efforts along these lines, and can suggest a broader program of remedial steps, legal and social."

"It can also tackle the critical problem of fixing the exact extent of parental responsibility for the misdeeds of minors...."

Cannon Gets Year In Valise Theft

Michael A. Cannon, charged with having taken a suitcase and contents alleged to be valued at $100 or more, was permitted to plead guilty to petit larceny Thursday in County Court and was given a year in jail. In accepting the plea District Attorney Howard C. St. John said it would be difficult to prove the value of the contents of the suitcase.

Cannon was employed at Ellenville at the time and in answer to the usual questions as to former conviction he recorded one of the longest "records" ever to be entered in a local court. The list of convictions covered four pages and involved convictions in New York and New Jersey over a period of several years. Most of the convictions had been for petit larceny.

Court recessed until 2 o'clock Monday when jurors will return.

UPSET IN MAINE

Edmund S. Muskie is the first successful Democratic candidate for governor of Maine in 20 years. He defeated incumbent Governor Burton M. Cross, although the state legislature remains under Republican control and GOP Senate candidate Margaret Chase Smith won her race easily.

Muskie's victory is an indication that support of Republican candidates by President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon will not be enough to assure automatic GOP victories. The President may be as popular as he ever was but transferring popularity is not easy, as more than one President has discovered.

Local and state issues were probably of paramount consideration to Maine voters who elected Muskie. The fact that the vote was lighter than usual because of the damage caused by recent storms had some effect. Yet the really strong Republican candidates won despite the handicap.

For years it was a political cliché that "As Maine goes so goes the nation." One political figure on the Democratic side, with some truth, poked fun at the saying with the paraphrase "As Maine goes so goes Vermont." The Democratic victory in the Maine gubernatorial race may indicate a trend. If it does, however, no one will really know what it is until after the elections in November.

MANNERS FOR TRAVELERS

Any American who travels in other lands is an unofficial representative of the American people whether he wants to be or not. If he behaves sensibly, politely and with consideration for the feelings of the people he meets he can build lasting good will for all Americans. If this behavior is the opposite he contributes to the arguments of those who would like the world to believe that all Americans are boorish, arrogant and concerned only with money and pleasure.

Incidents such as the one in Brazil involving actress Miss Ava Gardner can do our national reputation great damage. By staging a noisy party and being asked to get out of the hotel where she stayed she played into the hands of the propagandists. Our prestige in that part of the world has been slipping and it is certain that Miss Gardner's foolishness will be exploited.

It is unfair for people in other countries to generalize about Americans on the basis of the actions of a few. Yet it is human nature to generalize. This places a heavy responsibility on travelers, particularly on prominent ones. It is too late to undo the damage done by Miss Gardner's visit to Brazil. But the incident should serve as an example to other Americans of how not to behave when a guest in a strange country.

WHY NOT LAKE WATER?

The summer's dry spell has reminded the Great Lakes states that there are other countries beside our own. When wells and streams and ponds ran dry and faucets produced but the merest trickle, many citizens cried, "Here we border on one of the Great Lakes. Why don't we put in a water system that draws on the lake and gives us all we need?"

The answer is that, except for Lake Michigan, which is entirely surrounded by United States territory, we do not own the Great Lakes. They border also on Canada, and are largely fed by Canadian streams. Any large-scale consumption of lake water would tend to lower lake levels. Lower levels mean trouble in harbors and Canada would have a right to protest.

Probably it is always salutary to be reminded that our own interests are not paramount. Others must be considered, too.

Water remains a problem. But surely it is not beyond power to solve.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE OLD NORTH CHURCH

Paul Revere is only a distant figure to this generation, a man who rode a horse from Charlestown to Lexington through the night to warn the people that the British were coming. It was a minor but beloved event at the beginning of the American Revolution which made us a nation.

In the days when we, children of immigrant parents, went to public school, when every school day began with the reading of a passage from the Bible and the singing of either "The Star-Spangled Banner," or "America," Paul Revere was not only a living person but a serious problem because we had to memorize Longfellow's poem which began:

"Listen, my children, and you shall hear . . . And then Paul Revere would ride through the night:

"A voice in the darkness, a knock at the door, And a word that shall echo forevermore!"

These were difficult words for us, but we had already become accustomed to Longfellow and Whittier, William Cullen Bryant and Oliver Wendell Holmes. They seemed to us, in those days, especially made to be memorized and to Americanize the children of immigrants.

And so it came as a hurt to see in the newspapers a photograph, after the big storm, of the steeple of the Old North Church in Boston toppling over. That was the church where Paul Revere had lanterns placed.

"One if by land, and two if by sea . . .

The fate of a nation was riding that night . . .

Maybe that steeple was rotted through. Maybe the termites had eaten it or the pigeons had despoiled it. We are careless in this country of our national monuments, although we are doing much better since the National Trust for Historic Preservation has been organized to stimulate an interest in them. It is only during the past five years or so that the restoration and preservation of Independence Hall in Philadelphia has been undertaken on a satisfactory scale, although Williamsburg in Virginia was restored before that.

Boston and the area about it, Concord, Lexington, Salem and many other places are teeming with historic sites, some well-preserved, and ignored and forgotten, or cared for by some diligent patriot who loves the symbols of a great past. These shrines are symbols of that spirit which Paul Revere displayed and even of greater events.

Too many Americans have really forgotten, if they ever knew, the heroism of the American Revolution. True, the British were far away and had to cross a dangerous ocean to hold and keep the 13 colonies on our shores. And, as always, Great Britain was beset by continental enemies who were more than pleased by the diversion of troubles in the colonies.

But for the farmers of Massachusetts, the Revolution was a reality. It meant leaving much of the land to the women and old men and small boys; it meant years of privation; it meant quarrels within families; it meant wounded and dead. And then came the confusion of forming a new nation.

Wars are more personal than the politicians, who make them, like us to recognize.

And what aggravated many in those days was that they were not too sure that they wanted to be independent. That was always one of Washington's more severe problems, the Tories and the apathetic; the lovers of the British crown, and those who did not hate it. But there was always a Samuel Adams to stir the spirit. And there was always a Paul Revere, silversmith, to ride through the night, the hoof-beats of his horse clattering, seeming to say, "The British are coming!"

And now a magnificent symbol of it all, the steeple of the Old North Church, has toppled over. Symbols must not be permitted to topple. The Chinese believe that when a pagoda is blown away by an unfriendly wind, the forces of evil are upon them. And it is not an unkindly superstition. It means that the husbandry of the nation has been inadequate and careless and that the gods are displeased.

Governor Herter has accepted the chairmanship of the committee to rebuild that steeple. This symbol of the birth of our nation, of powerful initiative and magnificent courage, should not be forgotten. It should be built strong to stand as the beacon that it was.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

SOME AIDS IN DIGESTION

Yesterday we were considering the process of digestion. Digestion has been defined as "The sum of the changes which food undergoes to put it into such a form that it can be absorbed and distributed to all parts of the body." Of course, most of this work is done by the various digestive juices—saliva, gastric juice, pancreatic juice, intestinal juice and the bile. However, some of it is done beforehand by cooking and other means of preparation which saves some work on the part of the digestive system.

Most of us have little trouble with digestion, as a rule, while some have a great deal of trouble. Following are a few simple suggestions which should help all of us in aiding digestion:

1. Food should be chewed thoroughly. This serves many purposes such as helping dilute the food and increasing the number of surfaces of the food exposed to the digestive juices.

2. Concentrated foods such as candy, cheese or nuts should be taken in combination with other foods.

3. Foods should not be eaten when you are tired or suffering from severe nervous strain.

4. Digestion is influenced by the amount of food taken at a time. The quantity taken should be in proportion to the size of the stomach to promote ready digestion.

5. Foods which are well cooked and artistically served promotes the flow of "appetite juices" and so favors digestion.

6. In extreme cases of faulty digestion, certain foods may be prepared for easier digestion such as twice-cooked beef, milk which has been "peptonized" (first step of digestion already done) and fats which have been emulsified.

7. Meals in which all the various types of foodstuffs are preferable to meals which are high in one particular type of food.

The time that food remains in the stomach is influenced by the combinations of foods. Starches leave the stomach first, next the proteins, and then the fats. The rate of digestion is slower when the diet is high in fat. A combination of protein and fat will remain longer than the single foods. In general, the stomach empties in from four to six hours.

various sorts used for gags. Charlie Chaplin's cane is one example.

President Eisenhower's Magic Wand

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA)—President Eisenhower's participation, by remote control, in Labor Day groundbreaking ceremonies for the new atomic power plant in Pittsburgh focuses new attention on some of the cost elements of this new form of energy, which should be ready in three years or so.

Until a short time ago, the only price tag put on the uranium fuel which will drive the atomic power plants has been $9000 a pound. In a recent speech, however, Dr. Lawrence B. Hafstad, director of the Atomic Energy Commission's Reactor Development division, quoted a figure of $20 a pound.

The difference of $8980 a pound was so great that an explanation was called for. When produced, it developed that both figures were right, but they are for two different kinds of uranium.

The $9000 per lb. uranium is the refined, concentrated isotope known as U-235. The $20 per lb. is the natural U-238.

THIS NATURAL URANIUM 238 contains only seven-tenths of one per cent of the rich U-235. This is about one part in 140. It is the complicated process of separating out the U-235 that shoots up its cost to the $9000 a pound figure.

Both kinds of uranium are needed to provide the energy that will heat the water to make the steam to drive the turbines that turn the generators to furnish the electricity to heat and light the futuristic house that Jack builds.

This would be a typical setup, says Dr. Hafstad. In the center would be a core of say 200 pounds of enriched U-235. At $9000 a pound, this would cost $1,800,000.

Around this core would be, say, say 50 tons of natural U-238. At $20 a pound, this would cost $2,000,000.

The purpose of this natural uranium is to act as a blanket around the core of enriched uranium. It stops the neutrons as they split off in the critical mass of enriched uranium in the core. As these neutrons collide with the U-235 atoms in the natural uranium, the heat is generated which is the atomic energy.

One other design to get this same result is to put one rod of pure U-235 metal to say every ten rods of natural U-238 in a blanket of some other material, like carbon, to slow down the neutrons. The amount of heat generated is then regulated by withdrawing or inserting the rods of U-238.

WHAT RUNS UP THE COSTS for atomic power plants is not so much the cost of the uranium fuel, but the shielding and controls necessary to prevent escape of the dangerous radiations.

The cost of the first commercial type power plant being built by Westinghouse for Duquesne Power and Light Co. of Pittsburgh is now estimated at $55 million. This is much higher than an equivalent coal-steam power plant would be.

Atomic scientists calculate that this plant will produce 60,000 kilowatts of electricity energy. That makes the initial cost over $900 per kw. capacity as compared to around $130 per kw. of under $8 million for a conventional coal-steam power plant.

Where the scientists hope they can eventually bring down atomic power costs is in the development of the breeder reactor.

DR. HAFSTAD GIVE: THIS typical example, using the 200-pound core of U-235, surrounded by 50 tons of natural uranium, as outlined above. The initial fuel charge here would cost $3,800,000, exclusive of plant costs.

This charge would furnish energy for several years. After it had "cooked" that long, half of the rich U-235 core would be burned up. There would be 100 pounds of it left.

But in this process, some 200 pounds of plutonium would have been produced in the blanket. This plutonium could be separated out. Half of it could be put back in the core, to bring its charge back up to the original level. The other half of the plutonium could be taken out as a by-product "profit."

This illustrates the secret of the breeder reactor, in generating more fissionable material than it consumes. It enables all of the original uranium charge to be consumed. And it enables the furnace to be recharged with only the $20-a-pound fuel. This will cut atomic fuel costs down considerably from the $9000-a-pound level used in previous calculations given to the public.

New York, Sept. 16 (AP)—A few years ago, anyone who exposed treason in the Roosevelt-Truman reign was a "psychopathic case." This term and others in the same zone meant that McCarran, McCarthy, Elizabeth Bentley and Whitaker Chambers might be sincere but that, unfortunately, they were crazy. This and the kindred rubberstamps used in the same propaganda line to discredit the opponents of treason, come from the fake science known as psychiatry.

Psychiatry is a European evil which has given us a big jargon of expressions which were unknown to our people before a disreputable element, mainly in New York, began looking for excuses for their personal nastiness. They could find psychiatrists to advise them to trade spouses on week-end parties up around Stamford and thus relieve mental tensions which were keeping them awake and hampering their genius.

When Elizabeth Bentley was presenting her confession in Washington, and nailing a whole apparatus of traitors in the treasury under Henry Morgenthau, Eleanor Roosevelt tossed off a scientific diagnosis of a person whom she had never seen. Although she is not an educated woman, La Boca said Miss Bentley was "neurotic," which is another expression of the same book. It is part of the "line" of those who have things to answer for themselves, as La Boca certainly has, not only on her own account but on the account of her husband's administration. Morgenthau is her old friend and neighbor and no explanation has ever been given of the strange concentration of so many traitors in one department of the government. So, if Mrs. Roosevelt could persuade a sizeable element of our people that Elizabeth Bentley was nuts, she would take some heat off Henry and the foul regime in which she herself was an important personage. She wouldn't do herself any harm, either.

This tactic never quite succeeded although some gullible citizens doubtless have been induced to believe that Miss Bentley's story was exaggerated and that Joe McCarthy is "obsessed." Chambers may actually have been neurotic as these people hopefully insisted. But even if he was, that would not necessarily impair the value of his

Maine's Stay-at-Home Vote Is More of GOP Problem in U. S. Than Democrats Have

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 17—Maine's election figures show that, whereas the total vote for members of Congress this year was approximately the same as two years ago, the stay-at-home vote is still much more of a Republican than a Democratic problem in America.

Only 64.2 of the entire population of the United States above 21 years of age voted in the presidential election two years ago, which means that for the nation as a whole there are more than 25,000,000 persons eligible to vote who didn't do so. This huge stay-at-home vote plays a vital part in the outcome of the congressional elections in November.

It is even more perplexing that millions of persons who vote for president do not vote for members of Congress. Thus, there were 83,000 Republican votes in Maine for Dwight Eisenhower which were not cast this time for Senator Margaret Chase Smith, who has just been re-elected and who has been one of the favorite Eisenhower Republicans in Congress—a "liberal" in the modern sense and a severe critic of Senator McCarthy.

Mrs. Smith indeed got 16,000 fewer Republican votes than she won in 1948, yet the Democratic nominee for senator increased the Democratic vote from 64,000 in 1948 to 102,000 in 1954. The defeated Democratic nominee gained 38,000 votes over 1948 as his opponent was losing 16,000 Republican votes. In fact, the Democratic vote of 102,000 for senator this time was only 17,000 behind the Stevenson vote of 119,000 in 1952.

The closing of this gap shows that the Democrats made substantial gains in the core, to bring presidential voters who didn't vote for members of Congress in 1952, while the Republicans in Maine have scarcely made a dent in the group of Republicans who voted for Ike but didn't vote for a senator two years ago.

Why do voters stay at home? Some of them are discouraged by what they see as a similarity between the two major parties. What difference does it make, asks many a Republican conservative, whether we have Republican New Dealers or Democratic New Dealers in Congress? Likewise, the man who doesn't vote. So the stay-at-home citizen, by his indifference, may be voting actually to put off of office the very party that he wants to see stay in.

This is a task for organization at the precinct level. It will do no good for the Republican workers, for example, to spend to much time trying to convert those farmers who are rebellious this year. They might better concentrate on those farmer whose incomes are good but who haven't been voting for member of Congress at all. Similarly, for every unemployed citizen who votes in protest, the Republicans have to get at least two Republican stay-at-homes of 195 who have jobs and are satisfied with the administration's record.

It is not the vote that switche back and forth, therefore, which decides elections in close states. It's the vote of those who could effect the effect of the switch that's important. They alone can overcome the protest, or negative, voting.

There have been many classic examples of this doctrine. In Ohio in 1948 the state went to Truman by a margin of only 7,000 votes, yet there were 120,000 persons who didn't vote for President at all but who did vote to elect a Democratic governor of a conservative type. The actually went to the polls but like many of the stay-at-homes they didn't like either Dewey or Truman. They said there was not much difference between them—presumably the complaint was that they both leaned toward the left wing side.

In 1950, however, by dint of hard work and through organized effort in every precinct of the state, the Republican party re-elected Senator Taft by 431,000 majority. In 1952, Senator Bricker got 243,000 more Republican votes than Taft had two years before. Likewise, the Democratic nominee for the Senate, Mike Di Salle, polled 110,000 more votes for his ticket in the 1952 election than either Truman or Dewey got in 1948. Incidentally, there was no perceptible increase in the number eligible to vote in Ohio, as between 1948 and 1950 and 1952. But, while only 55 per cent of the eligible voters went to the polls in the 1948 presidential election, in Ohio 62.4 per cent voted in the 1952 presidential election.

So the stay-at-homes are the key to the coming congressional election and the party which has thousands and thousands of precinct workers to get out the voter who agrees with their party record and likes their candidate, can win the election despite the customary switching of those voters who do go to the polls regularly.

Columbus Discovery

As well as discovering the New World, Christopher Columbus discovered the pineapple. I 1943, he landed at Guadeloupe in the West Indies, and found the fruit, native of the western hemisphere, naming it pine fruit because of its resemblance to a pine cone.

About one-eighth of all crop production in the United States depends totally or in part on irrigation.

down the school system.

Gilbert imputed to the anti-Communists a desire to institute "thought control" and one Roll May said the greatest evil in the world was not the devil but "the compartmentalization of our culture."

This is a new "line" or tactic.

But where is it going to get them, anyway? For Eleanor Roosevelt, can win the election and there you have a gabby nuisance with so little formal education that they would have no conceivable excuse to classify her as an "intellectual." To be sure, she did "teach" classes of young females who have every right to our pity, but unfortunately, it appears that she and her guardians, through some oversight, neglected to select through the normal routine which such people hold indispensable. And on the other extreme, there is Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, who is so brain-heavy that he stands on his head doesn't know that Soviet Russia is our enemy and didn't have the sense to realize that he was having truck with the enemy when he joined "just about every Communist front organization on the west coast."

Oppenheimer had the most powerful clique working for him that has ever turned to in the interest of anyone in the long roster of persons so accused. But the publicity was so strong that the Personnel Security Board of the Atomic Energy Commission had to say it was inconsistent with "security" to recommend a "clearance," which is another Jargon word meaning the degree of confidence that any grammar school patriot commands of a matter of course.

The publicity attempt to excuse this sinister double-dabble which claims that he was so learned and wise that he didn't know patriot from traitor in a landmark in the Herald Tribune's history. The H-T earnestly argued that Oppenheimer was so majestic that he was just a plain dam fool.

Buying a Used Car

BY BRYAN V. JOHNSON

NEW YORK
Used-car buying is a lot like an uranium hunt. If you know how to look and where to look you've the best chance of success.

Few Are Car "Experts"

Unfortunately, few of us know all about cars. We know that it's foolish to judge a used car by its year and price alone—the shape it's in is much more important! But, when it comes to lifting the hood and listening for engine knocks ... and checking the transmission ... most of us are way out of our depth. So, if you're not an expert on how to buy a used car, you'll be well advised to know where to look. This is much easier as you will see.

So Know Your Dealer

When you can trust a dealer, you can trust the used cars he sells. And there are special reasons why you can trust Ford Dealers. See how they stack up against the average used-car lot. First, Ford Dealers are established businessmen with a big, long-term investment.

They depend on your good will, for they want your service business and they also hope you'll be a new car client some day. They aim to please you. They have expert mechanics who can put their A-1 used cars in top shape! And they look out for trouble spots to fix them, before you buy, so that you don't get stuck!

A Tip About Prices

It's also well worth knowing that Ford Dealers (unlike most used car lots) don't depend on selling used cars alone for their profits. They handle used cars as a service to their new-car customers, who are trading in every kind of make and model on new Fords. And, as you've probably read recently, Ford cars are selling like hot cakes these days. So, to keep their used-car stocks moving, your Ford Dealer's prices are now even lower than usual, and are way below average.

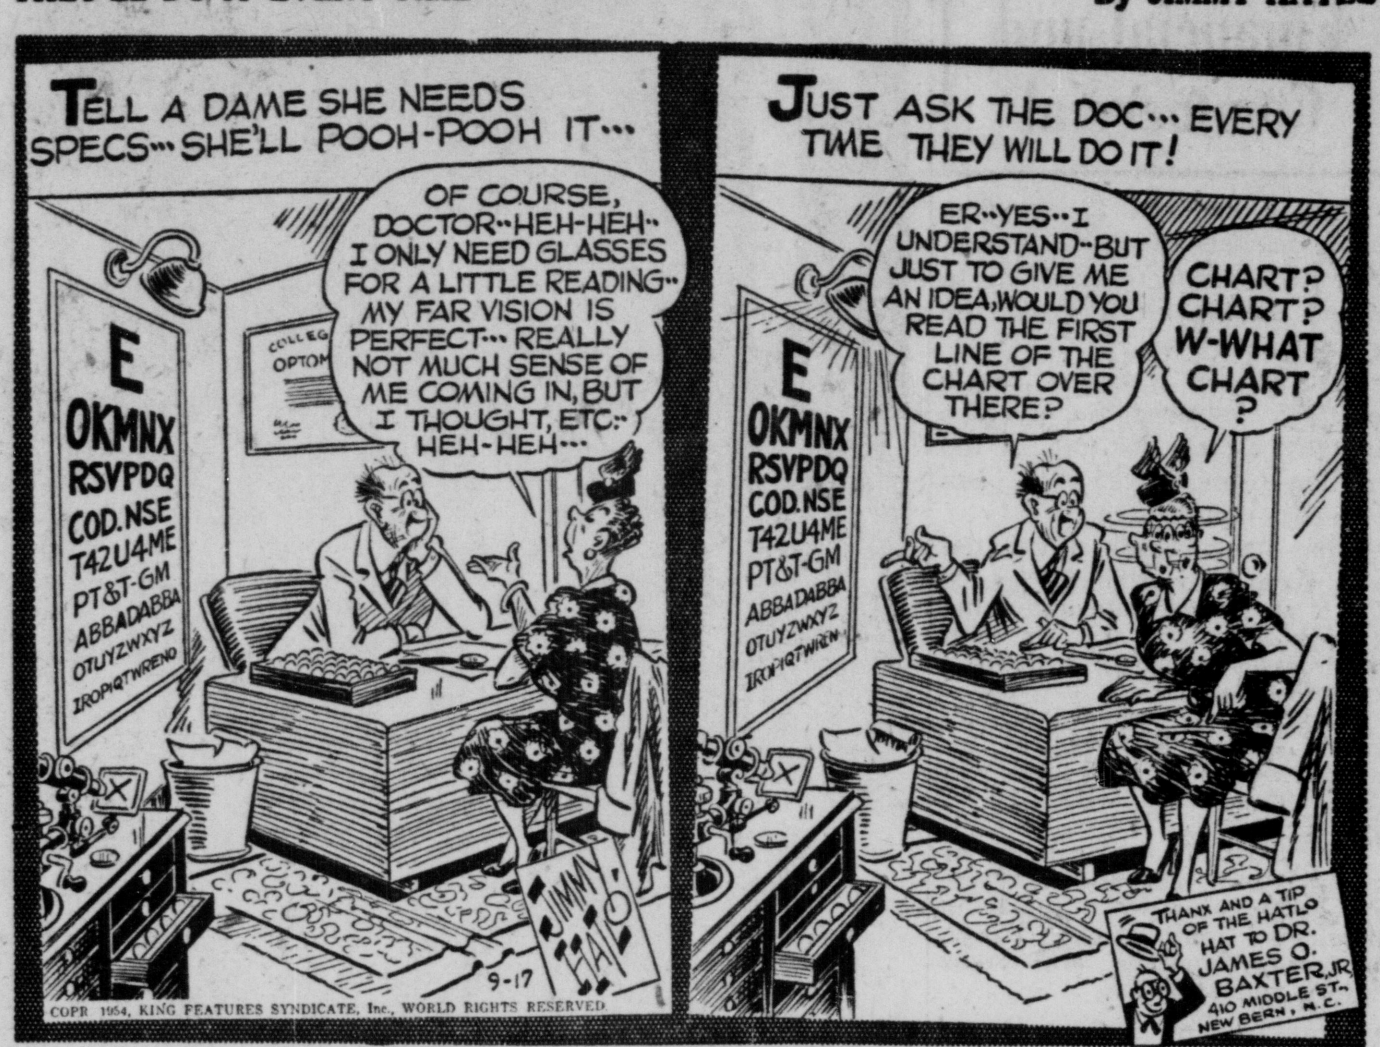

For a good reliable used car, at rock-bottom price, and on the easiest of credit terms, you can't do better than go see your Ford Dealer. You can bet you won't be disappointed!

BABSON on BUSINESS

New Boston, N. H., Sept. 17.—I believe in insurance—fire, life, and casualty—yes, and I include hurricane, accident, and sickness insurance. I especially like the Blue Cross and Blue Shield. Everyone should subscribe to these.

Apart from being a business, insurance is also a form of good sound Christianity in which every church member should enthusiastically join. Insurance is really all of us contributing to help ourselves and others who are in trouble. Instead of waiting for fire, death, or accident, and then "passing the hat," insurance companies collect the money first.

To interest people in taking out insurance consumes time and costs the insurance companies much money; also, book-keeping and other expenses are high. But in a free nation I see no way of avoiding this expense.

Even compulsory insurance costs something to "service," and it is very easy for politics and even corruption to creep in. Therefore, I believe the present plan is best.

A WEEK OR TWO AGO, Greater Boston and eastern New England were swept by a hurricane. Within about one hour, $100,000,000 of property values was wiped out. A portion of this—such as beautiful trees—can be insured only at very high premium rates, but damage to buildings, life, etc., can be protected at reasonable insurance costs. (Incidentally, uninsured loss of trees can be deducted from your income tax.)

Since this hurricane I learn that very few people carry hurricane insurance. In fact, most people do not know what their insurance covers. For instance, manufacturers insure their F.O.B. goods until delivered to the merchant's nearest railroad station. The merchant insures these goods after they arrive at his store; but very few carry policies which protect the goods while being trucked between station and store. Be sure you have the right insurance, and enough of it.

WHETHER YOU ARE a manufacturer, or a storekeeper, or a humble citizen, you should read your policies. Get them all out tonight and read them. Anything not plainly covered will not be covered. Especially read what is in fine print. This advice strongly applies to accident and health insurance sold at low rates. An executor may try to collect on a $10,000 accident policy and find that the accident must be in a train wreck—in order to collect. In fact, one company which sells accident insurance at very low rates insists you must be seated in a train when killed in order for your executors to collect.

Sickness insurance should be checked. A long list of diseases of which you have never heard are mentioned; but you may find no mention of heart disease, cancer, or some very common causes of death. I forecast that the time is coming when these accident and sickness policies will be compelled by law to state in large type what they DO NOT cover. In the meantime I beg that all my friends read their policies. If these policies do not cover every reasonable hazard which you can think of, get covered. For instance, if your wife should put a person's eye out with an open umbrella, are you insured against its costing you $20,000?

YOUR INSURANCE AGENT wants to be one of your best friends. He is truly interested in your welfare. Tell him you want everything covered and get a letter from him stating that everything, unless he mentions it in this letter to you, is covered. One other thought. In most states only perfectly sound insurance companies are allowed by law to operate; but this is not true in all states. Furthermore, some unscrupulous companies get around the law by operating by mail from a care-less state.

You cannot be expected to study the financial strength of each company; but you can insist upon selecting only well-known companies which have been in business a long time. Any company which has advertised consistently in your local paper should be safe. This is a good test, especially if the advertisement reads that the company has been approved by the Insurance Commissions of all the leading states.

Francis J. O'Neill New Democrat City Chairman

Francis J. O'Neill, 84 St. James street, chief accountant for C. Hiltbrant Dry Dock Co., Connelly, is the new chairman of the Democratic City Committee.

O'Neill was elected Thursday night by a meeting of ward committeemen in the Ulster county court house, Wall street, it was announced today by Attorney William A. Kelly, secretary of the Ulster County Democratic Committee.

ATTORNEY THOMAS J. PLUNKET, chairman of the Ulster County Democratic Committee, presided over the session at which O'Neill was nominated on recommendation of the Kingston Men's Democratic Club of which Attorney Kelly is president.

O'Neill was elected unanimously to relieve Attorney Plunket in city politics, which he bore in addition to heading the county organization, it was announced. "I ACCEPT the responsibility placed on me," O'Neill said, "and intend to carry on the Democratic party's principles for good government." The former supervisor of the 13th ward, where he was born, has been actively interested in the party for the past 25 years. He was once its candidate for mayor.

O'Neill has been with the Hiltbrant company for the past 14 years. He is married and has two young daughters, Mary Ellen and Kathleen. One of his chief interests in civic life is the Foundation for Prevention of Infantile Paralysis, and he has been serving as secretary of the Ulster County Chapter.

Lane Bids Low On Sullivan R17

The Lane Construction Corporation of Meriden, Conn., was low bidder on a contract calling for re-location and reconstruction of nearly 20 miles of Route 17 in Sullivan county near Wurtsboro, the State Department of Public Works announced today.

The Lane Company's bid of $5,800,503.90 was lowest of 14 bids received Thursday for the preliminary grading, drainage and structural work on a 9.73-mile section to be constructed on new location from Lords Reservoir, about six miles west of Wurtsboro, generally southward to the top of the mountain ridge just west of Bloomingburg.

THE PROPOSED new road will by-pass Wurtsboro, intersecting with Route 209 about two miles to the south. A traffic interchange will be constructed at that intersection, with a four-span 273-foot bridge to carry Route 209 over the expressway.

Under the contract bid on Thursday, grading work will be undertaken for two traffic arteries of three lanes each separated by a central mall. It is proposed in a future contract to provide initial pavement consisting of two lanes in each direction, with the addition of a third lane on all climbing grades of more than five per cent. If and when future traffic warrants it, the road will have been graded so that it can readily be transformed into a full six-lane divided highway along its entire length.

Formal award of the contract is expected to be made to the low bidder in two or three weeks.

New Red Slant: Brando Is Actress

New York, Sept. 17 (AP)—The top-ranking magazine in the Soviet Union has discovered Marlon Brando.

The "theoretical and political journal of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union"—Kommunist—described Brando for Soviet readers as "a well-known American actress."

Kommunist quoted a statement it claimed Brando made. In an article assailing the American motion picture industry the latest issue of this important magazine to reach here declared: "The well-known American actress Marlon Brando declares: 'In Hollywood the golden calf which stifles everything reigns. The cinema is not art. It is big business. A reflection of ordinary, simple, genuine life is totally impermissible here.'"

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 17 (AP)—The stock market advanced moderately today and reached up to around the highest levels of the year again.

The current recovery drive now has retraced on average virtually all of the loss in the reaction from the 25-year peak touched a month ago.

Some stocks made substantial gains from 1 to around 3 points. There were no unusually depressed areas of the list but some losses went to around a point.

Trading was at a rate of around two million shares for the day. Yesterday's total was 1,880,000 shares with prices higher.

The most favored major groups were oils and rubbers, and good gains were found in chemicals, mail order issues, non-ferrous metals, and some motors and steels.

Alternative Is

the kind of Congress that will support them."

The vice president is touring the country, boosting the election of Republican senatorial and congressional candidates in November. Nixon and his staff are traveling by chartered plane.

He planned a stop at Pittsburgh, Kan., today and then will move into southern Missouri.

HE TOLD HIS

audience "a return to Trumanism would bring at least an 11 billion dollar deficit * * * about $150 for every U. S. taxpayer."

Democratic administrations gave America 14 of its 15 tax boosts since 1913, he said, and decreased the personal exemptions of the "little man" from $1,500 to $500.

"I say, and the record proves it, that the little man, or the medium sized man or any sized man wants a decent tax break, only the Eisenhower administration and a Republican 84th Congress are prepared to give it," the vice president said.

"It took the Republican 83rd Congress to give us the first long range tax cut and revision bill in our country."

Earlier Nixon spoke at Topeka, the state capital. He said Wednesday's modification of government restrictions on use of acreage diverted from surplus crops "has a tendency to pull the rug out from under the Democrats on this issue." The Democrats, he said, had looked upon the original crop control order as a blow to farmers.

Was Organized Company

Tokyo, Sept. 17 (AP)—Authorities have broken up a shoplifting organization which operated like a business and in four years moved nearly 3 million dollars worth of stolen goods. Insiders knew it as the Maeda Shoplifting Co. It operated throughout Japan. Thirty experts were paid from $85 to $140 monthly each depending on their production ratings. Their unwitting suppliers included 101 of Japan's leading retailing firms. Stolen goods were distributed through second hand stores and other small outlets at a standard 30 per cent cut in the wholesale price. President and organizer was Kazuo Maeda of Kyoto, a man with seven previous convictions. Police said Maeda and 30 employees are under arrest pending investigation.

32 Persons Dead

Seoul, Sept. 17 (AP)—A Pacific typhoon which hit Korea Tuesday left 32 persons dead and 207 missing, South Korean officials said today. Most casualties and damage were along the mountainous east coast where torrential rains flooded large areas. U. S. Air Force transports dropped 15 tons of emergency rations to flood-marooned troops of the ROK 1st Corps on the east coast Wednesday and Thursday, officials said.

Management Club Endorses Chest

The Industrial Management Club, at a meeting held last evening at the YMCA, endorsed as an organization the Community Chest program and went on record unanimously as being behind the movement, David C. Cates, president, revealed today.

Edward Lefren, associate campaign chairman for the Community Chest, who is in charge of the Industrial group solicitation, told the members of the Industrial Management Club of which he is also a member, that the success of the Community Chest plan was dependent on the effort put forth by the management of industrial plants, their management of industrial plants, their management force and the employees.

Outlining the plan for pay roll deductions for pledges to the Chest, Lefren said the campaign could be a success and the goal of $43,000 for Industrial plants reached if each employee gave a fair share toward the chest.

An equivalent of 90 seconds of a pay day would meet the goal and this, Lefren said, was a very small contribution from a day's pay when it was realized that in an eight-hour day there was 28,800 seconds of paid employment. Following the talk by Lefren, the club unanimously endorsed the Community Chest and voted its support to the movement.

Harkin, Fabbie At Training Study

Headquarters, 156th Field Artillery Battalion, announced today that Lt. Col. Frank W. Harkin and Capt. Frank Fabbie have been called to a staff training conference at Syracuse, Saturday, conducted by the 27th Infantry Division commander, Maj. Gen. R. C. Brock, for revising the entire National Guard training schedule pertaining to the army (indoor) training period.

Lt. Col. Harkin said that "a revision at this time is necessary to further improve the efficiency of all artillery units and to better meet the demands placed upon guard organizations under the new army training program. There is no doubt that both officers and men will benefit greatly by the new plan once it is accepted and put into effect."

Capt. Fabbie, assistant plans and training officer of the 156th, has been working diligently for the past several weeks Harkin said, revising the new schedule in order to present them at the conference.

Col. Harkin would not comment on the revision except to say that "it is a step in the right direction and would do much for making the 156th even more effective than it has been in the past." He emphasized that he was not at liberty to announce the changes until they had been approved by higher headquarters and officially accepted.

He bought with Ezzard Charles at Yankee Stadium tonight. Charles weighed 192½. On Wednesday, Charles also weighed 192½ and Marciano 186½.

Must Take Test

Washington, Sept. 16 (AP)—Entertainer Arthur Godfrey was free today to fly again, after he takes a flight test. A six-month suspension for reckless flying, ordered by the Civil Aeronautics Board, ended at midnight last night. Godfrey recently announced that on his birthday Aug. 31 he passed a physical examination for flying, qualifying him to pilot his own plane again. However, he still must take a flight test for a multi-engine pilot's rating before he can regain his suspended license. The Civil Aeronautics Administration said today he has not yet applied for one.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Donald C. Ringwald covered the history of the Queen of the Hudson, known to all of us as the Mary Powell, so well that everytime I read any part of it over again I find new information. For those who have continued to be interested in this steamship, the American Neptune magazine can be obtained from the publishers at Salem, Mass. The magazine has many other good articles such as Lobster Fishing on the Maine Coast, Loss of Steamship Independence etc.

One of the questions Mr. Ringwald answers which has come up, time and time, again, "After whom was the Mary Powell named?" Quoting from Mr. Ringwald's article "Captain Anderson decided to name the new boat after the 76-year-old widow of Thomas Powell, Mrs. Mary Ludlow Powell, the daughter of Robert Ludlow and Elizabeth Conkling Ludlow. Three of Mrs. Powell's brothers and her half brother, Robert W. Jones, had been officers in the United States Navy. During the War of 1812, one, Robert C. Ludlow, was purser on 'Constitution' at the time of her encounter with HMS Java. Another, Augustus C. Ludlow, was James Lawrence's first lieutenant on 'Chesapeake' in the engagement with HMS Shannon and died of wounds received in the battle." Also in his notes, the author mentions that Mary Ludlow Powell was born June 20, 1785 and died Thanksgiving Day morning, Nov. 28, 1867 at Newburgh. She lies buried in St. George's Cemetery at Newburgh. "The 'Thomas Powell' had been built for Thomas Powell, prominent businessman of Newburgh, and his son-in-law, Homer Ramsdell, for use on the route between New York city and Newburgh. She made her first trip between those places April 30, 1846. Later she was sold and ran elsewhere, including Delaware river service to Cape May. First Captain A. L. Anderson ran the Robert L. Stevens between Saugerties and New York. By the fall of 1855, he began to arrange to purchase the then noted and speedy 'Thomas Powell' to supersede the declining 'Robert L. Stevens.' By 1856 he found that he had an excellent boat but it was too large for a Saugerties to New York run, so he started a day boat service from Poughkeepsie to New York.

Rondout had the services of 'Aida' to New York run but she had been taken off in 1855 so in 1858 Captain A. L. Anderson decided to lengthen his Thomas Powell run to Rondout daily except Sundays started April 26, 1858. The Powell left Rondout at 5:30 a. m. and arrived at Jay street, New York, after run of 90 miles at 11 a. m. and left on her return trip at 3:45 p. m. This route was maintained for 60 years. "I can imagine how many folks would have taken advantage of such an excursion to the big city even this year if they knew it left such a convenient location in Kingston. Early morning hours must have been such a delight to the thousands who took advantage of this trip on the Hudson. I remember even in my day when we were preparing for a Mary Powell excursion. The night before all the neighbors would be preparing lunches for the round trip. The night was spent worrying that we do not miss the boat. We were at an advantage for we were a couple of blocks from her dock.

The trolleys would be full of joyous voyagers all with lunch boxes of various sizes. At the dock we met all our friends and neighbors and always, just when the boat pulled away someone arrived by cab or running too late to make the boat.

COLONIAL DAYS—Telling points of historical interest about the Allan Hanstein house, 43 Crown street, were ladies dressed in colonial costumes, seated, Mrs. Alfred Schmid, and standing, Mrs. Clifford Smith, Mrs. John MacKinnon and Mrs. Nelson Smith. The occasion was an open house and tea for ladies of St. James Church Thursday afternoon at the Hansteins, sponsored by Reynolds Circle. (Freeman photo).

Unusual Features Of Colonial Home Are Noted at Tea

Ladies of St. James Methodist Church heard hostesses tell points of historical interest about the Allan Hanstein home, 43 Crown street, Thursday afternoon at an open house sponsored by Reynolds Circle. The rainy weather canceled the serving of punch and cookies in the colonial-style garden. Tea was served in the Morning Room.

The house, which was renovated over a year ago under the direction of Myron Teller, architect and prominent authority on the colonial era, has only one structural change from the original. A handsome bay window in the Morning Room, brings the modern and colonial to a happy meeting place.

The corner-situated fireplace in this room boasts original tiles, depicting Biblical references, in the pale blue and white of the Dutch fashion.

The parlor, as it is called following tradition, is in pale green with wallpaper and curtains suggesting the early period. As indicated by the black marble fireplace, cornice and a similar pattern above the chandelier, the room is of a later period, perhaps only 100 years old in contrast to the original rooms of the house. The melody of a generation past, carries out the "younger feeling" in the handsome room. "Bulls Eyes" are unusual in the door, too narrow to be meant for outside.

A change that was made was the elimination of the hidden stairway, converting the floor space to a room. In the original room facing the garden, a fireplace rod was discovered, placing this as the earliest part of the house. The fireplace has been renovated, making it usable, and preserving the original features, such as a tidy oven space, a spit, and a crane.

The Dutch Door facing Crown street had only a makeshift top half, when the Hansteins first moved into the house. The original half was discovered in the attic, so that the complete door is now as it was many years ago.

A delightful feature is a closet door upstairs with two hinges, one H, and one L, style. The architect insisted on this as the custom many years ago demanded the use of "Holy Lord" hinges to bring a blessing on the house. The original wide beams in the floor upstairs are the only ones not changed by re-flooring by previous occupants.

The owners are strongly in favor of the preservation of all stone houses in Kingston and the immediate vicinity, as a part of the unique heritage of this section.

Mrs. Thomas Reynolds greeted members of the church at the door, and the hostesses, or colonial guides, were Mrs. Alfred Schmid, Mrs. Clifford Smith, Mrs. John MacKinnon and Mrs. Nelson Smith. A free will offering was taken for the benefit of the Reynolds Circle for WSCS.

ENGRAVED CARDS WITH PRESENTS

This morning a letter says: "Whenever I have occasion to give a present, I always enclose my personal card and leave the card exactly as is, writing a suitable message either above, or below, my name. A friend tells me that this is incorrect and that a line should be drawn through the Miss. I insist that leaving the Miss on is entirely correct since a friendly message has been added. Will you please tell me which one of us is right?"

Taking it for granted that you write a message to which you sign your name, you are right. If your engraved name takes the place of a signature, the "Miss" should be stricken off.

Formal Table Setting

Dear Mrs. Post: Someone just told me that at a correctly set table even though one person dines alone, four places should be set. To me this sounds just about as senseless as anything I've ever heard, and if it's so, then I think etiquette is pretty silly. I'd come to believe it was based on commonsense. Is the person who told me this right?

Answer: It is quite true that according to correct formal service, a dining table is never set with less than four places. This is merely because a balanced arrangement is most attractive. I agree this formality would be senseless to exact by those whose houses are not run strictly according to formal pattern.

Asking a Girl to Dance

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please settle the following question: Before asking a girl to dance, is it necessary to ask permission of the boy she is with, first, or is it sufficient to ask the girl if she would like to dance?

Answer: You do not ask permission of her partner at a large party, but if he and she are out as a twosome, you should use discretion before interrupting them.

Are you planning a buffet dinner or supper? Mrs. Post includes invitations, table setting and suggestions for menus in her leaflet "Buffet Dinner, Lunches and Suppers." She is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

YOUNG CITIZENS AT WORK—Girl Scouts of Troops 39 and 40 of St. Joseph's Church mark Citizenship Day, proclaimed by the President to commemorate the adoption of the Constitution, Sept. 17, 1787, planning one of their many community projects, a baby tending service at the polls Election Day. Working out the details

Scouts Now Plan To Direct Nursery At Jewish Center

In observance of Citizenship Day Sept. 17 proclaimed by the President to commemorate the adoption of the US Constitution in 1787 Mrs. Michael Martin, local troop leader initiates a community project in which all troops in the Kingston area will participate as she and her troop committee discuss together possible ways and means of establishing a Girl Scout nursery at the Jewish Community Center.

On Election Day, Nov. 2, for all mothers wishing to avail themselves of the services of competent Scout Baby sitters, coupled with adequate adult assistance upon that day from 4 to 6 p. m. and also of manning the polls offering the same service to mothers with young children.

MRS. ROY F. LAYTON, national president of Girl Scouts of the United States of America, in a recent letter to the presidents of local councils, stated that founders and leaders of the Girl Scout movement have consistently tried through badge requirements and suggested activities, to inculcate love of our country, appreciation for the heritage of the United States, and respect for its laws. One of the aims, through badge activity, is to stimulate the girl to learn for herself the meaning and im-are, seated, Helen McDonald and Martha Martin, Troop 40, and standing, Clara McDonald, and Patricia Tongue, Troop 39. Mrs. Michael Martin is the leader. plications of the Constitution, Bill of Rights, and other great American documents. The new "My Government" badge, introduced in 1953, lays particular emphasis upon the basic responsibilities of US citizenship.

In line with this philosophy, the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts feels that such citizenship is founded upon the basic attitudes and ideals formed during the impressionable years of scouting and that one of the most important means of developing such qualities is through service. The Scout Handbook emphasizes that "Service is as much a part of Scouting as fun is." Thus in the recent planning by the Council for a more adequate and wholesome Scouting program for its 1200 registered Girl Scouts, actual community service will receive a new impetus.

Durocher Hails Giants As His 'Gamest Team'

BY JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Beaming with pride over his pennant bound New York Giants, Leo Durocher today called his 1954 league leaders a greater club than his 1951 miracle team that came from way behind to defeat the Brooklyn Dodgers with the never-to-be-forgotten finish.

The voluble little manager, gushing good will and in a blissful attitude, lauded his Giants as the "gamest team that ever walked out on a field" following what probably was their happiest day of the season.

Combining brilliant pitching, a tight defense and timely hitting, the Giants twice whipped the Milwaukee Braves by 6-2 scores yesterday to sweep the three-game series and stretch their first place lead over Brooklyn to 4½ games. A 9-3 defeat inflicted by Cincinnati upon the Dodgers helped the Giants pick up a game and a half.

"DID YOU EVER see such a club as this one?" boomed Leo in a voice loud enough to drown out the clubhouse din. "This is the gamest club I ever managed. And one of the best. Certainly better than the '51 Giants. It has more pitching, a deeper bench and an improved Willie Mays."

"Maybe my 1941 Dodgers were better. But I'm not even sure of that. Anyway, these guys of mine are great. Simply great. All of them."

As a result of yesterday's activities, the "Giants" magic number is now five. Any combination of five Giant victories and/or Dodger defeats would clinch the flag for New York.

The game but hard-luck Braves, now 7½ lengths off the pace, are virtually eliminated. The combination there is three.

In justice to the Braves, they played the entire New York series without the services of slugging Joe Adcock, their injured first baseman. In addition, Eddie Mathews was handicapped by a lame left leg, Bobby Thomson missed yesterday's twin bill because of his ailing ankle and Henry Aaron was out with a busted leg.

ONLY ONE OTHER major league game was played. In that one, the New York Yankees prolonged their agony, defeating the Detroit Tigers 4-2 to keep their faint pennant hopes alive. They still trail the pace-setting Cleveland Indians by eight games with only nine to go. Cleveland also has nine games left.

Ruben Gomez and Monte Irvin were the first game stars for the Giants. Gomez, the Puerto Rican right-hander, turned in an eight-hitter for his 16th triumph and fourth in a row. Irvin drove in four runs with a double, single and sacrifice fly as the Giants knocked out Warren Spahn for the first time this season. He has started six times against them.

Marv Grissom and Hoyt Wilhelm combined to hold the Braves to seven hits in the nightcap. Grissom, making his first start since May 1, gave up all the hits before he was removed after Mathews' 37th homer had tied the score at 2-2 with one out in the sixth. Wilhelm gained credit for the victory, his 12th, holding the Braves runless and hitless in 3½ innings. He now has pitched 92/3 consecutive hitless innings. Mays slammed his 40th homer and two singles to boost his batting average to .343 which tied him with Brooklyn's Duke Snider for the league lead.

JOE NUXHALL, the only left-hander to beat Brooklyn at Ebbets Field, did it again with a route-going 10-hitter. The Reds walloped five Brooklyn hurlers for 13 hits including home runs by Wally Post, Bobby Adams and Ted Kluszewski. It was Kluszewski's 49th, of the season.

Yogi Berra's three-run homer

in the first inning was all young Bob Grim needed to win his 19th game of the season for the Yankees.

Mays Ties Snider For Lead at .343

New York, Sept. 17 (AP)—For the first time in almost three months, Duke Snider of the Brooklyn Dodgers is not the sole possessor of the National League batting lead.

Snider undisputed leader since June 19, is deadlocked with Willie Mays of the New York Giants at .343 as a result of yesterday's action.

Snider collected two hits in four tries against Cincinnati, but Mays came up with four safeties in five at bats in the twin bill against Milwaukee.

Pronto Don New All-Time Leader In Earnings

Westbury, Sept. 17 (AP)—The sulky world hailed a new money winning champion today, along with a 42-1 long shot trotter who descended from a line of Pronto Don, a sturdy 9-year-old veteran of harness racing, could do no better than fourth place last night, but he collected $2,500 to hoist his total bankroll to $319,673.96—greatest amount ever won by a standard bred horse. The previous high was Good Times' $318,792.56.

The winner of the mile and one quarter race was Royal Pastime, a 7-year-old gelded son of Royal Napoleon-Surpass, by Volomite. Royal Pastime flashed down the middle of the track in the final few yards to snatch a nose decision over Pat Provenzano's Gene Mac, Batavia. Gene Mac got second money by a nose over Lady Dunn, owned by Carl H. Scholl, Cincinnati.

Cecil Champion, the Canadian reinsman who drove Katie Key to second place back of Florican in last year's American trotting championship, was in Royal Pastime's sulky. They came from seventh place near the head of the stretch to grab the verdict.

Kluszewski Trails Hack's Mark by 3

Brooklyn, Sept. 17 (AP)—Cincinnati slugger Ted Kluszewski today is three home runs behind Hack Wilson's National League record home run pace of 1930.

Kluszewski walloped his 49th homer in yesterday's game against Brooklyn, the Redlegs' 146th. When Wilson hit 56, he slammed Nos. 51 and 52 in his 146th game.

Ontoora Board Reports on Fall Term Beginning

A report on increased enrollment, release time for religious instructions, installation of playground equipment, and tax rates for six districts supporting Ontoora Central School has been made public by the board of education.

Enrollment for the fall term is 1,064, the report said, an increase of 157 over the September figure of last year. It was pointed out that the increase is due partly to the normal population growth and partly to the pupils of Bearsville district, who are now attending at Ontoora School.

ENROLLMENT IN Pine Hill School increased from 12 to 18 students, the board said.

Religious instruction permit cards have been sent to parents requesting permission for children of Protestant faith, grades one to three, to attend classes in the renovated former Boiceville schoolhouse for an hour a week. Classes are to begin Friday, Sept. 24.

The board will begin to install special playground equipment on all the playground areas some time during the fall, it said, and advised that the shift program began this week in cooperation with the Kingston Trust Company, Phoenicia Branch. Tuesday is bank day each week.

TAX RATES for the districts were announced as follows: Woodstock, $33.15 per M. assessed valuation; Lexington, $20.95; Shandaken, $24.11; Olive, $39.28; Hurley, $15.38; Marlborough, $21.45.

Ralph Thompson, Pine Hill collector of the central district started collections on September 15.

Child and Family Study Is Planned

Joseph Burroughs, specialist in child development and family relations for the Extension Service will conduct a public meeting Wednesday evening at the First Baptist Church on Albany avenue, and a training school for Home Bureau leaders the following morning at the same place.

Trends in Child Rearing will be the topic for the evening meeting, to be held at 8 p. m. Wednesday. Burroughs will be moderator of a half-hour panel discussion by members of child study clubs in the county, and the panel will be followed by general discussion. The meeting is open to anyone interested.

On Thursday at 10 a. m., Burroughs will conduct the first family life training school for Ulster County Home Bureau unit leaders. This meeting will also be held at the First Baptist Church.

Dr. Dutto Hurt In Auto Mishap

Two persons suffered minor injuries in an accident at the intersection of Kierstedt street and Wrentham street about 2:55 p. m. Thursday, the police reported.

Dr. Bortholomew J. Dutto, 43, of 147 Manor avenue, received a "bump" on his head, and Mrs. Maude Wiggins, 61, of 274 Manor avenue received a back injury and possible rib fracture, the police said. Both indicated to patrolmen they would be treated by their own physician.

Police said Dr. Dutto was driving south on Kierstedt avenue and Henry W. Wiggins, 61, was driving west on Wrentham street when the vehicles collided at the intersection.

Marciano-Charles Bout Re-Scheduled Tonight

Contest to Start At 11 O'clock

New York, Sept. 17 (AP)—Yes, folks, heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano and challenger Ezzard Charles still are waiting around to fight for the title. The 15-rounder, twice postponed, is scheduled for Yankee Stadium at 11 p. m., EDT (10 p. m., EST) tonight.

Note, it says scheduled. Rain washed out the return bout on Wednesday and Thursday to equal the heavyweight championship postponement record set in 1948 by Joe Louis and old Jersey Joe Walcott.

The game weatherman, sticking his chin out again, says it will be "mostly fair" this afternoon and tonight. He predicted Wednesday that it would rain Thursday, let up in mid-afternoon, and be cloudy Thursday night. Promoter Jim Norris couldn't wait. The morning rains wet all the seats and everything else in the park and he called off the fight at noon.

FOR THE RECORD, the rain did stop late Thursday afternoon. But it started drizzling again at 7 p. m., let up shortly after, and then, 10 minutes before the original 10:30 p. m., starting time, began again. At 10:50 p. m., it was pouring.

If another postponement is forced, the rain-junked scrap will be rescheduled for Saturday night at 11 p. m., EDT. Rain is forecast for Saturday.

There will be a meeting of the Lake Katrine Grange, Monday night. It was decided at the last meeting to postpone the auction sale, scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 25, inasmuch as the committee felt that there was an insufficient number of articles contributed so far, for the sale. However, it is expected that the auction will be held sometime in October instead. Again members are asked to supply Nelson Snyder, sponsor of the auction, with a list of any articles they may have to contribute.
